Isn't your deck supposed to be a source of fun, entertainment and pleasure?

A cleaned and freshly stained deck adds value to your home but the repeated costs can be a burden. The whole reason you have a deck is to provide an extension of your living space.

It should be a place to entertain friends, enjoy a barbecue on a warm summer's evening or an area to let your kids play while you relax. Unfortunately, deck maintenance has become so cumbersome that many people let their decks turn into eyesores. We can fix that.

Our Wood Restoration Process is extremely thorough and the results are stunning. We use only very low pressure, and top-of-the-line wood restoration products. Our professional grade products are specifically formulated for use by "Certified" Wood Restoration Professionals.

Q: Is there a way for my deck to look good yet not have to pay a contractor to come out every single year?

A: Yes, there is. Have your deck serviced by a company that specializes in both painting and expert wood restoration and uses the longest lasting wood sealers on the market.

Two Reasons Your Deck Stain May Not Hold Up

Improper Prep: a deck restoration is much more than high pressure washing.

The Use of Inferior Materials: the big box stores generally sell products made for novice use. A professional contractor uses professional products.

Wood restoration is a service we take great pride in. Every care is taken to ensure that your deck is properly taken from the worst possible condition to a restored and functional extension of your home. We never use high pressure to "strip" a deck. We use gentle, biodegradable cleaners to remove failing stains and sealers. When necessary, we perform carpentry work and an efficient sanding process to bring your deck back to life. Your deck is then sealed to condition the wood and lock out moisture damage. We guarantee our work, in writing, for two years. Your deck can then be maintained by THINKPAINTING for a fraction of the yearly cost you may be spending. Deck maintenance becomes one less thing you have to worry about.
